

Speak Out on No Child Left Behind

How is this federal education law helping or hurting students families and communities in the Bay Area?

What should leaders know about the law's impact from the public's point of view?

What can the community do to help?

Join the Berkeley Public Education Foundation, Marcus A. Foster Educational Institute, Public Education Network, and the San Francisco Education Fund at a public hearing to share your views about the impact of the law on Bay Area schools and community.

Bay Area Public Hearing on No Child Left Behind

Wednesday, January 18, 2006

4:00 – 7:30 PM

San Francisco Main Library

Koret Auditorium, Library Lower Level

100 Larkin Street (at Grove Street), San Francisco, CA

Public transportation: one block from Civic Center BART station

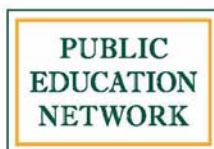

Parking available at Civic Center garage across the street

Light refreshments, translation services, and childcare will be provided during the event for those in attendance.

Please note that the San Francisco Public Library is not sponsoring this event.

This is one of ten public hearings to be held across the country. After the hearings, we'll take your views to the White House, Congress, local policymakers, and the media to make your ideas and opinions known. Community involvement is our best hope to achieve the goals of this far-reaching law. For more information, visit www.sfedfund.org/nclb. Please RSVP to 415-912-2233 or NCLB@sfedfund.org. When responding, please indicate if you will need childcare and translation services.

Please also complete a short NCLB survey at www.GiveKidsGoodSchools.org.

Public involvement. Public education. Public benefit.